WESTWOOD ELECTS NEW BOARD

April 28, 2010

MINNEAPOLIS, MN – Westwood Professional Services, Inc., announced the election of new board members, Jason McCarty and Dan Parks this month. Re-elected to the board are President, Paul Greenhagen; Vice-President, Dale Beckmann; and Vice-President, Scott Gyllen. Board members serve a one-year term and are nominated and elected by Westwood shareholders.

McCarty is the director of Westwood’s land sector in which he oversees and supports business efforts in both the commercial and residential markets. He served on Westwood’s board in 2007 to 2009. He is a professional civil engineer and joined Westwood in 1998. His work includes numerous notable land development projects in the metro area such as Stonemill Farms in Woodbury and Victor Gardens in Hugo. McCarty served as president of the Minnesota Society of Professional Engineers (MSPE) from 2008 to 2009 and remains an active member.

As director of Westwood’s commercial group, Parks manages the development of retail, office, industrial park, medical, and institutional projects. Parks joined Westwood in 2002. He is a professional civil engineer and has managed multiple award-winning local projects including Shops of Plymouth Creek in Plymouth and Windsor Plaza in Eden Prairie. As an active participant in the commercial real estate community, Parks has served in committee roles with the Minnesota Shopping Center Association (MSCA) and the National Association of Industrial Office Parks (NAIOP). As a fresh face on the board, Parks says “Westwood is a great company, and I look forward to working with the board to help realize our growth opportunities.”
