JIM CAMPBELL JOINS WESTWOOD'S PHOENIX OFFICE

October 25, 2011

PHOENIX, AZ – Westwood Professional Services, Inc., a national land and energy development consultant, is excited to announce the addition of Jim Campbell, PE, to the firm's energy sector group. Campbell joined the company as a project manager based in their Phoenix, Arizona office.

Campbell has 47 years of civil engineering experience and will be providing project management and business development to support the firm's energy initiatives. Throughout his career, he has been involved in the design and management of a wide variety of projects including solar, wind, and geothermal energy; which according to the director of Westwood's energy sector group, Aaron Tippie, are cornerstone to Campbell's new position. "Jim's broad experience and energy industry knowledge add significantly to Westwood's energy sector team." Tippie says, "Jim is a great asset for our solar and transmission market presence in the Southwest and elsewhere."

In addition to energy development, Campbell's experience includes DOD utilities, the NORAD Cheyenne Mountain Complex, Peacekeeper Missile Silos, airfield runways, municipal streets, and water and wastewater facilities.

Campbell is a registered professional engineer in Arizona, Nebraska, Kansas, and New Mexico. He graduated from the University of New Mexico with a BS in Civil Engineering and has a Masters in Engineering Management from Boston University. <http://www.westwoodps.com>
